m.SelfService: self-service ticketing kiosk for attractions and museums

Visitors out exploring, not queuing.

At weekends and when coaches arrive, m.SelfService takes over part of the sales, while the box office handles groups and questions. Visitors choose a time slot in their own language, pay and start their visit.

The kiosk comes in your venue's colours, with your logo. The screen shows your photos, and the ticket and receipt carry your logo.

Three coaches and a few families are outside the entrance. The families buy tickets at the kiosks, and the group guides sort everything out at the box office. There's no queue, and the first time slot starts on time.
